

SCHREIBER HERE AND THERE

Marilyn Pearson, Marlene Birch, Doris McParland, Bob McParland and Ray Potvin attended the Longworth-Ruddick wedding in Nakina.

Bill Molinsky of Rosspoint won the draw sponsored by the North Shore Nurses' Association in aid of the Children's Aid Society.

A record of borrowing was set by the public library in October, Mrs. A. LeBlanc reporting 590 books taken out, the junior members (468) considerably outnumbering the adults. The high school students make good use of the library now for reference of various kinds, and once there for that purpose, are often interested in other books, not statistics but none the less good reading.

Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Randa, Leon Cote, Mrs. Alice Potvin, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Randa attended the wedding of Elbert Longworth and Joan Ruddick in Nakina on Nov. 3rd.

Teen Town held their Hallowe'en frolic on Saturday night with costume prizes awarded to Sandy Kragero, Geraldine McGrath, Susie Kragero and Ray Potvin by judges Mrs. Bernard White, Miss Sally Stewart, Mike Cosgrove, (Manitouwadge) and Ray Guillet.

Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Wallace have returned home after a long holiday spent with relatives in New York City and North Bay also with friends in Toronto.

Nelson Smith jr has had an operation on his injured hand in the Shriners Hospital in Winnipeg.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Bond of Beardmore visited with Mrs. E. O'Connor last week.

The seemingly impossible "something new" has been accomplished by the Busy Bees of St. John's Anglican Church, a self-appointed building fund committee, who have opened a food-ordering project. By calling Mrs. J.D. Bryson or Mrs. Bob Ellacott before five on Friday delicious homemade cabbage rolls, bread, buns or pie can be ordered for delivery on Saturday at one's home.

Rev. Sisters Helen, Suzanne and Emilia of the Gaulan Mission in Guatamala, Central America, were here last week, visiting in St. Joseph's convent. The visitors spoke to the students in Holy Angels' school on the work of the Mission.

The executive of the ladies curling club met in Mrs. Pat Beno's home to discuss an invitation sent to host the North Western play-downs. It was finally agreed to accept the offer and the tentative dates of Jan. 25, 26, 27 or Feb. 15, 16, 17 were set. Various committees required for the undertaking will be appointed later.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Cameron and baby Susan of Elliot Lake visited with Mr. and Mrs. J. Rattray last week.

Mrs. J. Spavor and son Stephen of Fort William visited with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fadden this week.

Andy Bond of Fort William was the guest of Mrs. E. O'Connor this week.

Bill Anderson of Winnipeg visited his brothers-in-law, Bill and Henry Scott and other relations here recently.

The tea-bazaar given by the Anglican Church women on Saturday was most successful, with Mrs. C. Sparkes convening, and Mrs. R.J. S. Inshaw receiving. The small tea tables centred by Hallowe'en decorations were attended by Mesdames A.W. Slater, H.V. Harness, Geoff. Birch, R. Morrill and A.C. Rigelsford, Mesdames Sparkes, R. Gray, B. Lidkea and E. O'Connor replenishing.

The bazaar counter was in charge of Mrs. T. Wilson and Mrs. J.D. Bryson with Mrs. J. Corbett as cashier. A candy booth for the junior auxiliary was operated by Heather Tremblay, Patsy Ann Winters and Carol Dimmery.

Tommy Webb was the lucky winner of the Schreiber Kinsmen Club Annual Fuel Oil Draw. The draw was made in Caccamo's store and Mrs. Mauro Cebrario pulled the winning ticket.

The townspeople are particularly pleased by the behaviour of the Hallowe'eners this year, in comparison with so many other centres where vandalism went to extremes. Here, despite the many roaming about, there was no trouble in all the frolicking enjoyed.

Boyd Drake is in the Marathon Hospital following emergency operation.

Mrs. George Bailey of Fort William is visiting with Mrs. Roy Bailey.

Mrs. Bill Lidkea convened the Poppy Day Tea at the Legion on Saturday with small tables served by Mesdames F. McKenna, N. Ross, R. McCuaig, A. Rigelsford, H. Costall, J. Richardson and N. McCuaig. Mesdames W. Kinney, W. Furlonger and R. Macadam replenished. Mrs. L. Small was cashier and the door prize was won by Valerie Rigelsford.

The usual hazing of first year students this year in the high school was confined to "Twirp Day" which ended with kangaroo court when Bill Scott was judge and Jim Duggan crown attorney---the victims allowed no defence attorney. Forfeits, or sentences for not obeying the stern edicts laid down to the hapless first-formers, were the expected amusing stunts always paid off on the main streets with a laughing crowd of spectators in attendance. The staff of the school remain apart from these antics after a preliminary report of what the program is expected to be. And judging by expression their enjoyment is as keen as the students. The day ended with a school dance in the town hall.

CATHOLIC GIRLS CLUB TAKE PART IN PAGEANT

The lovely pageant of the crowning of the Blessed Virgin Mary was presented in Holy Angels Roman Catholic Church by their girls' club under the direction of Father J.M. Cano and Mrs. Harry Shack their leader, assisted by the Rev. Sisters of the convent. The beautiful backdrop for the statue of the Virgin Mary was the work of Mrs. Gino Spadoni.

Anna Fummerton was the Queen, her attendants Judy St. Jean and Billie Ann Cocks, the queen in white and the others in blue. Judy Parent carried the crown of red roses.

The pageant was preceded by the Living Rosary done by 44 members of the Catholic Girls' Club, each lighting a candle as she finished, eventually circling the darkened Church with candlelight.

The senior choir added special music to the impressive rite, performed each year in the months of May and October.

C.G.I.T. GIRLS & LEADERS ATTEND CONFERENCE

The CGIT held a successful combined conference for leaders and senior girls in Wesley United Church, Fort William with Schreiber having the biggest representation in the district, including the Lakehead.
