CHIPMUNKS ENJOY ANNUAL ORGY

The return of the swallows to Capistrano is not awaited with more anticipation than the annual visit of the chipmunk hopheads to the garden of Miss Gwen Hadley each summer.

Regularly, despite the kind of season, good growing weather or slow, obeying some inner alert, the chipmunk gather just when the Oriental poppies produce their seeds and, after a greedy banquet, disport themselves on the lawn. Apparently their wild orgy and abandoned gymnastics which resemble a ballet pantomime as they reel about, discomfits the tiny animals not a whit for, following the mad party, they slip groggily away to return again next year.

REUNION IN SCHREIBER

Two old friends, Bob Winters of Schreiber and Sammy Barns of Boston, enjoyed a long-awaited reunion last week - their first meeting in 52 years. Both worked on the construction of the Fort William jack knife bridge and then came to Schreiber to railroad, Mr. Barns leaving to try railroading in the United States. Both are now pensioned.

POLIO PROTECTION

A few days ago announcement was made that during the first five months of the current year not a single case of poliomyelitis had been reported in Canada.

But, there are no grounds for believing that the disease has been completely eliminated. Children as a whole are well immunized against this crippling and frequently fatal disease. But there has been much reluctance among adults to obtain similar protection.
