

Jimmy & Tony Commisso at work—Pic. by I. McCuaig

Nowhere is the confusion known as the double-take better displayed than by the unwary passerby in front of the barbershop and beauty salon housed in the same building on the main street and operated by two brothers bearing a disconcerting resemblance to each other. The passerby nods to Jimmy Commisso, seen inside busy with clippers and, in the next instant, is shaken as he apparently sees Jim arranging milady's tresses. But, a step backward solves the problem—there are two figures—and the pedestrian goes on by to see Tony the hairdresser bow gravely.

Elton McKibbon and Ken Goutz of Eganville were the guests of Mr. & Mrs. H. McParland while on a successful moose hunt.

The annual adult frolic, a costume ball, sponsored by the volunteer fire brigade, will be held October 31 in the Town Hall with a $50 door prize—spot dance prize and costume prizes. This is the one annual appeal to the public made by this eminently worthy association who contribute so much to public safety. All money realized goes back into the town coffers since it is used to purchase needed equipment.

CATHOLIC GIRLS IN RELIGIOUS PAGEANT

The October Crowning of the Blessed Virgin Mary was enacted by the members of the Catholic Girls' Club at the evening service in Holy Angels Roman Catholic Church.

The leading characters—Georgette LeBlanc as the Queen, Cathy McGrath and Norma McLellan, bridesmaids and Cathy Anderson and Cathy Cocks, flower girls, were led in procession into the Church by other club members. The Crown, placed by the queen, is of red roses and the special decorations for the occasion arranged by the Rev. Sisters of St. Joseph's Convent.

With the queen and her suite remaining before the Altar the other club members form a chain, a living Rosary, about the Church—the girls in blue and silver capes repeating the Hail Mary and those in white and gold capes saying the Our Father, each lighting a candle as she utters her prayer. The event is planned and rehearsed by Fr. Cano, P.P. and the Reverend Sisters and is held each year in the months of May and October.
