

K. OF C. MEMBER HONORED (Continued)

Such a party as this would not have been possible then but now it seems a most social way for husbands and wives to meet with their friends. He spoke with affection of the many families who had contributed so much to the happiness of his family, mentioning Mel and Irene Nicol, and again thanked the K. of C., in particular Bill Sernesky and Arnold Stortini, who had made the arrangements - for the altogether delightful evening and reunion with old friends.

BROWNIE HALLOWE'EN PARTY

The ecstatic giggling of 38 Brownies at their Hallowe'en party made the welkin resound as they surveyed each others' costumes.

Brown Owls Mrs. Kay Stefurak and Mrs. Marcy Cebrario, assisted by Tawny Owls Mrs. June Sisson, Mrs. Igrid Fournier, Mrs. Mary Shack and Mrs. Nellie Stewart, marched the girls in circles before the judges who, after much consideration, awarded prizes as follows:-

group one, fancy, ballet dancer - Cathy Bottomley; original, Debby Caccamo, a skunk; comic, Cindy Einarson and Alanna Power - baby and Mother; group two - fancy, Karen Guina - Maurice Chevalier; original, Lola Scott - pumpkin; comic, Karen Guina - pussycat.

The judges, Father Cano, Mrs. L.R. Tremblay and Mrs. L. R. McCuaig were considerably entertained to find that twins Kathy and Karen Guina were wearing costumes devised by their grandmother almost 25 years ago. Kathy's frock coat was the identical one worn by her aunt Lorna and although Karen's cat outfit was a new one its earlier model had won a prize for her mother years ago.

The United Church Hi - C's had their Hallowe'en party on Friday evening, entertaining the Terrace Bay group.

The costumes were in a wide range from comic to fancy and a good time was had by all.

SIGN. NORMAN FUMMERTON MAKES HEADLINES

Norman, son of Mr. & Mrs. F. Fummerton has been written-up in The Beaver, Canadian Army Magazine published in Germany as follows:-
Soltau, Germany - Ask Sign. Norm Fummerton what the most overworked words in his vocabulary are and he is certain to answer "Number please".

Sign. Fummerton, a member of the 4th Squadron, Royal Canadian Corps of Signals, is switchboard operator at the main headquarters of the Brigade Group, currently undergoing intensive training at Soltau. The 22 year old Schreiber man handles over 600 calls daily during an 8 hour shift. He and three others operate the board 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Calls are not restricted to Germany alone but come from European countries such as France, Holland, Belgium, Italy, Luxembourg, England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland and Denmark.

Two or three days ago Sign. Fummerton was startled to hear a voice saying "Montreal calling". The mother of a soldier had died and his relatives were trying to get in touch with him. In the space of a few minutes, he had located the soldier and had him talking to his family. Emergency matters such as this are routine for Sign. Fummerton who has handled Canadian Army switchboards in Camp Gagetown, NB, the Gaza Strip in Egypt and here on the heather-clad slopes of famed Luneberger Heath.

Norman enlisted in the Canadian Army in Oct. 1948, and was posted to the Royal Canadian School of Signals at Kingston. Upon completion of training he went to 3rd Signals Sqn. located at Camp Gagetown, NB. Later he served with the 56th Sqn. as part of the U.N. Emergency Force on the Gaza Strip in Egypt. Upon return to Canada, he joined the Manitoba Signals Sqn. with headquarters at Winnipeg. He came to Germany in August of this
