

LIBERALS WIN IN TERRACE BAY & SCHREIBER

Liberal candidate Bob Andras gained a clear majority in Monday's election. It would seem that how our district results turn out - so does the result in the district of Thunder Bay.

	Terrace Bay	Schreiber
Liberals	316	396
Prog. Conservative	167	216
N.D.P.	273	279

The turnout of voters was very good in both places but everyone agrees it is sad that the overall picture was not more decisive - one way or another.

It remains to be seen what, if any, steps are taken to ease the leaders of both major parties out and who and what type of leaders will replace them.

WAR HERO HONORED

Six former crewmen of an RCAF bomber whose mission June 12, 1944, resulted in the posthumous award of the Victoria Cross to the seventh of their number, get together Nov. 10 in Winnipeg.

Joining the six in their first complete re-union since World War II is Air Canada passenger agent Jack Friday, 62 Melon St., Port Arthur.

The group will honor the memory of 27-year-old Andrew Mynarski, waist gunner of a Lancaster, whose heroism led to Britain's highest military honor.

The plane was attacked by a German night-fighter and was so badly damaged the pilot ordered the crew to bail out. Mynarski was about to bail out when he saw his friend, P/O Patrick Brophy, was trapped in the tail turret. Ignoring his own safety, Mynarski crawled through the blazing fuselage and vainly tried to save him. When he finally gave up and bailed out his clothing was on fire. He was found by French farmers but died of his burns.

Ironically, Brophy had a miraculous escape when the bomber crashed. He lived to tell the tale. Formerly of Port Arthur, his parents now reside at Terrace Bay. He is a flight lieutenant with the RCAF stationed at Duluth.

Mynarski's heroism is memorialized in the Andrew Mynarski Junior High School in Winnipeg, where he was born and raised.

FELLED TREE CAUSES LENGTHY POWER INTERRUPTION

Winds which gusted to 70 miles per hour on Wednesday, November 3, uprooted a tall tree, eighteen inches in diameter, and blew it onto a transmission line feeding Willroy Mines at Manitouwadge. Contact with the line at 10.36 P.M. caused a switch to open at Aguasabon Generating Station, Terrace Bay, and plunged the whole area east of Terrace Bay into darkness, including Marathon, White River, Manitouwadge and Hornepayne. Excluding Hornepayne, which is in Hydro's North-eastern Region, about 1,164 customers were affected.

Although operators and line crew from Terrace Bay immediately set about locating the cause of the interruption, its distant location just outside Manitouwadge meant an unusually long delay in restoring power, especially to customers in Manitouwadge and Hornepayne. An isolating switch outside Marathon allowed power to be restored to

Marathon and White River at 1.15 A.M., with only four short additional interruptions to permit testing of the circuits. Manitouwadge and Hornepayne customers, however, were without power from 10.36 P.M. to 7.01 A.M. and again from 9.02 a.m. to 9.13 a.m. while the tree was located and removed from the line. Willroy and Geco Mines were without power for the whole period.

Hydro personnel worked throughout the night to find and correct the cause of the interruption. In addition, two helicopters were standing by to assist at dawn if the fault had not been located at that time.
