FREEDOM -by Janis McInnes Grade 12

He demanded nothing from us;
He was free and alone-
He could be active and remain motionless,
And he was free.
To be both graceful and awkward
And to have no worries-
To be independent and carefree
Was his ideal.
This youth could work
This youth could rest;
As yet he had no path to follow,
No one to make him conform
And he was free.

CANADA -by Janis McInnes Grade 12

For centuries it grew
They came from everywhere
To this land.
It was spacious and free
And it was home.
They built and expanded;
They cleared and planted
To make this place
Where they were to dwell -
Beautiful.
And thus it grew, as time passed,
To be both industrious and cultured.
This land we call home -
Is a place of beauty.

SAND -by Lloyd Phillips Grade 12

Sand,
Pebbles on a beach,
Fine sand on a wind-blown desert,
Sand, like a human, a smart man,
Keeps changing with the winds,
With the sea;
Sand, so still and quiet,
Yet, moving all the time.
