usual prayer.

Following the singing of "God Save The Queen" a little Christmas party was enjoyed with games conducted by Mrs. Wilf Corrigan and Mrs. Al Ziegleman and their committees. Mrs. Jack Caccamo won the door prize of a Nativity Scene. The party ended with a cup of coffee and Christmas cake served by Mrs. Hugh Boudreau and her committee.

CURLING NEWS

In regular club play the Johnson rink is shaping up as the rink to beat. Ken and his cohorts, Bob Roberts at 3rd, Butch Bouchard as 2nd and Bill McKie as lead, are unbeaten in the second round. They lost two games in the first round.

Curling activities will cease on Dec. 22nd until after the New Year. The rink will be available during the holidays for practice games and challenge matches. Games involving non-members must be scheduled with Jack Chapman.

So far four teams have indicated that they are in contention for the British Consuls playdowns, leading to the Brier. We would like at least two more teams. There will be a small entry fee and a 2nd prize so make up a rink and sign up for some keen competition.

All members of the Ladies and Men's clubs and their partners are invited to the Christmas Party on Dec. 18th. Santa will attend, refreshments and lunch will be available and there is no cover charge. See you there.

Mrs. J. Smitheman was hostess for a farewell party given by the art club on honor of Mrs. J. B. Ridsdale who was recipient of some Blue Mountain pottery and their good wishes.

Mrs. A. LeBlanc accompanied Mrs. P. J. LeBlanc to Pt. Arthur where the latter entered General Hospital. Ian Cameron, born nine years ago on Grey Cup Day had twelve guests at a birthday party when the cake was shaped like a football.
