a committee was already in the process of being set up, and it would begin its survey around June 1st.

Principal W. Rowsome, in reply to questions, stated that the students had not been officially polled as to their preference, but in his opinion, the Business and Commerce Course was bound to be more attractive to the majority of girls than Arts and Science.

He also surmised that under present conditions, Schreiber could only accept a percentage of Terrace Bay students, should any elect to take the course offered there.

Terrace Bay High School will then continue with the same course as at present.

Mr. Chisholm thanked all those who attended, for their moral support in the Board's very difficult task and also the Municipal Council for their overwhelming vote of confidence.

SEMINAR ON ALCOHOLISM HELD HERE

Throughout the winter months workshops for clergy and social workers have been held along the North Shore in connection with their work among alcoholics and their families. The meeting held here Thursday was intended to bring to the general public some idea of the role to be played by a community in this work.

Rev. T.G. Husser introduced Mr. Cliff Bennett of the Alcoholism and Drug Addiction Research Foundation Centre in the Lakehead, who in turn introduced the members of his panel. Each member spoke from their own personal experience with the problem; one was a member of Alcoholics Anonymous, the ladies were all members of Al-Anon, the organization which offers help to the families of alcoholics.

Following the panel's remarks the meeting split into two "buzz groups" to discuss three points of focus. A recording secretary made notes of the points raised in each group and these were read out when the meeting joined for coffee.

The first question "Who and What Creates a Community Image". One group brought out the aspect presented to others passing through the town; the effect on the community image of residents representing the different social organizations at conventions, bonspiels, etc. The other group answered in a more personal way: the social attitude towards men as alcoholics and the entirely different one towards women who have a drinking problem. Also, the subtle encouragement that goes on at parties and in social clubs was mentioned as a contributory factor in the increase in alcoholism.

The roles of the Church and education system were also discussed, with questions put to school representatives concerning the teaching of the effects of alcohol and drugs prior to High School age. The Church's role seemed to be that of counsellor to those concerned, and of educator of those not intimately involved.

Following a summation given by one of the panel members, talk became general and the meeting came reluctantly to a close several hours after it began.
