CENTENNIAL PROJECTS IN ROSSPORT - by Mrs. C. W. Todesco

Who said that this small village isn't interested in Centennial projects? Even the children are in on it. They are repairing the rink house, fence and goal posts for hockey and skating action. Parents and others interested are meeting in the near future to see how they can assist the children.

Other centennial projects in the village are: roofing and improving the Hall; a Grotto made of amethyst stone, floodlights and flowers at St. Berchman's R.C. Church; Curling Rink improvements.

Another project worth consideration would be homes and fences as well as yards improved to make our village more attractive.

Canadians should rejoice in the richness of their land as they look forward to its 100th birthday. Planning and carrying out Centennial projects has helped individuals, old and young, to be more aware of the beauty and uniqueness of their own community.

The history of this land is studied in school and children take home colorful tales of explorers, fur traders, settlers, and the original inhabitants, the Indians. We should all know more about Canada, the world's second largest country. We should also remind ourselves how many countries have sent immigrants to our shores to help build our nation to its present status. Our Centenary has surely increased our desire to add to our knowledge of this country and should remind us that the true strength of a people lies not in its material wealth but in its vision and awareness of another's needs.

NOT FORGOTTEN!

Today Armistice Day has become a symbol of a time when there will be no more wars . . . when nations will live together in harmony and peace. It is fitting that on this November 11th, we salute those who have given their lives to hasten that day — and to breathe a prayer that their sacrifice has not been in vain.
