THE BIBLE TODAY

For Publication During the Week of
 Nov. 20 to Nov. 26, 1966

World Church News has recently issued items of interest to Bible lovers. The first Swedish English edition of the New Testament has been published by the Gideons International. Although this edition is meant primarily for placement in public accommodation facilities frequented by foreign guests, the Gideons have made copies available to those people in Sweden who wish to purchase them. An important conference on Bible Translation was held recently in Tokyo for Protestant and Roman Catholic scholars and translators from Asia, Europe and North America. One of the principal aims of the conference was to seek ways and means of speeding the production of translations of the Bible in modern contemporary languages of the Far East. Set up in 1964 to translate the Bible into the Tishluba language, the mission in Luluabourg, Congo announced recently that it has completed its work on the Book of Psalms. Spoken by more than two million people, Tishluba is one of the four principal languages of Congo. The special commission working on the translation as composed of Protestant and Roman Catholic scholars, and Bantu language experts in the Far East. Participants included Protestant and Roman Catholic scholars and translators from Asia, Europe and North America. One of the principal aims of the conference was to seek ways and means of speeding the production of translations of the Bible in modern contemporary languages of the Far East.

The minutes were read by Secretary Mrs. A. Laine, Treasurers report by Mrs. A. Farrow. Reports were given by all committees. Following all regular business the Installation Services took place.
