Mrs. C. Gresdal is home from Lakehead hospital. Visitors to the Lakehead recently were Donald and Vivian Gresdal.

ART CLUB - TEA AND EXHIBIT

The first of the Art Club's Centennial projects is the exhibit and Tea to be held March 4 and 5. Eleven Eskimo prints from the Winnipeg Art Gallery as well as local member's work will be on display.

The names Kenojuak, Kiakshuk and Kavavook are becoming known on the Canadian Art scene as some of the best Eskimo print makers. Kenojuak still only in her twenties, is already one of Cape Dorset's best print-makers. Her drawings reveal an intuitive sense of composition and inner hypnotic power of her dream birds. The exhibit has three of her prints, two stone cuts and one skin stencil: 'Hare Spirits', 'The Enchanted Owl' and 'The Return of the Sun'. Kiakshuk, foremost a hunter, first used print making as something to do in bad weather, and drew of things he'd rather be doing. His stone cut 'Summer Caribou Hunt' depicts this with such perfect power and simplicity. The Eskimos love of a story, told or listened to, is illustrated in the whole collection and especially in Kavavook's seal skin stencil 'Two Men Discussing Coming Hunt'.

Eskimo art is today finding its own level and success among sophisticated viewers. It illustrates, as well as preserves, as nothing else could, the Eskimo aboriginal culture.

All members are urged to attend the March business meeting on Thursday, when final plans for the tea and exhibit have to be formulated.
