TOWN POLICE REPORT

Constable Keith Scott of the town force was commended by municipal council for successfully completing a long outstanding case against Gordon Collins, alias Timothy O'Rourke, found guilty in Port Arthur court of $5,000. fraud in July, 1966. He was sentenced to three years in Stoney Mountain penitentiary.

Schreiber police were responsible for the recovery of a car, stolen from Fort William, the culprit also wanted in Medicine Hat, it was discovered.

Twenty-five complaints were received, charges laid against eight, six convictions were obtained.

Total fines of $35. under H.T.A. with costs of $60. and fines $30. under L.C.A. with costs of $10.50 reported. Numerous thefts were successfully investigated among these the recovery of hub caps stolen from a local garage, in which instance a charge has been laid.

Word has been received of the death January 29 of Rev. Donald McQueen, Vicar of Tarvin Diocese of Chester, England. Mr. McQueen is well remembered in Schreiber where he was minister of St. John's Anglican Church in 1930-33. He was a young man when he came to Schreiber, filled with enthusiasm, on occasion, flung ministerial dignity literally to the wind. Remembered with the same amusement as it happened is the morning he dashed down to the station platform in pursuit of a departing mail car waving a letter in one hand gesturing at the astonished mailman with the other crying "Coo-ee!" The first and last time the Australian bush cry was heard here.

DRESS PLUS JACKET equals Fashion Know-how. Fashion a sleeveless streak of sunny Marigold wool eased into a casual flare. Top with a matching (or wildly contrasting) jacket, cropped short or pulled very long. Most un-suity but very suitable for a young elegant about town. To wear from business through evening.

SHORT-SHEARED hair à la Mia Farrow ... the look to watch and wear. Necessary ingredients: good bones, hair that hugs the head nicely. If its's you -- VERY smart and VERY "in"!

wedding bells ring out unanimous approval for "The Cage" -- a free-falling tent of feminine floating fabric that plays peek-a-boo with its own sheath-dress underneath. The clever bride-to-be will find it a cinch to sew herself in elegant transparents like tulle, organza, point d'esprit, lace. Join pieces with French seams by stitching 1'/8 inch in with wrong sides facing; turn right sides facing and stitch again.

Dream of looking like a Dresden doll? Sprinkle pristine organdy with lacy daisies and circle the neckline and hem with daisy chains. Traditional lace becomes enchantingly modern with a wide lingerie hem and dainty bindings of organza. Combine white on white embroidery with rows and rows of tiny organdy tucks for an expensive-looking border on hem, train and sleeves. It's as easy as pie with the new Centennial Golden "Touch & Sew" machine by Singer!

square of shions. Toes are broad and roundly square; heels are square and low. Barely-there sandals offer chic airconditioning for city streets as well as the beach. Toes, as often as not, are enormously bowed in leather, ribbon or even metal. A low-heeled look that is really high-key with shorter skirts for day and evening.

MATCH STRIPES or plaids the easy way. Fold under the seam allowance of one edge and lap over the seam allowance of the second garment piece. Match seamlines and notches; pin. Slip-baste the fold down from the right side, matching stripes as you sew. Remove pins and machine stitch as usual. To slip-baste; slip needle along in the upper fold; then down under the lower layer.
