LADIES GOLF NEWS

Ladies' day this year will be Tuesday afternoons from 1 to 4, with the first tournament on June 6, weather permitting. Ladies who are working during the day may golf their round Monday evening in a threesome or foursome.

Emil has agreed to give instructions to beginners in small groups of about five at a time, starting on June 1, or a following Tuesday or Thursday afternoon by appointment. Anyone wishing to take part in these should give her name to Marie Edmunds.

All golfers should hand in as many score cards as possible so that handicaps may be established. There will be no additional membership fee for the privilege of belonging to the ladies' club.

opinion that it was an excellent opportunity for the students to have actual experience in their field of interest; and that the students could learn both the advantages and the disadvantages of the chosen job.

The teachers that had high school students in the classroom felt that by teaching one or two lessons, the students could have a sample of the responsibility of a teacher, and could become fully aware of whether or not they would enjoy teaching as a career.

For those students who could only observe, it was still an opportunity to decide whether or not they would care to pursue that particular job as a career.

The co-operation of all those who took time out to spend with the high school students was greatly appreciated.
