

VETERAN'S DINNER (from Page 9)

Comrade R. Sinotte presented a leather briefcase to President Pat Jones to be used by future presidents.

Guest speaker Comrade J. Kelty delivered an interesting and enjoyable speech. In closing he proposed a Toast to the Ladies. "Fields of Sacrifice", was the film shown, and Comrade Kelty's speech came alive as many beautiful war memorials were shown in different parts of the world.

The veterans of both World Wars and the younger service men met after the film to enjoy a riotous half hour sing-song.

The tempo changed later as Sax Lundberg and George Churney supplied music for dancing. Two comrades also entered into the spirit of the evening and voluntarily accompanied the two-man band on an electric guitar. These were guest Gordon Dyer and Hector McLeod.

At the close of the evening, to send the two most senior veterans happily on their way, the whole company joined in singing "So Long It's Been Good To Know You."
