GRADUATION EXERCISES HELD

The entire audience, led by the students, sang the popular "CANADA", at recent graduation exercises held in Holy Angels Separate School.

The address of welcome was given by Mark Morrow of the kindergarten. The graduates in turn introduced themselves, with a small sketch the role each played in school life. The graduates presented the last will and testament, a highly humorous note in the program.

LEAD: SPADE EIGHT

At a recent duplicate game only one pair reached the heart slam as shown in the bidding here. While the contract appears optimistic, this particular pair almost went to six spades, a completely unmakeable contract. Once North supported hearts and established the trump suit, South gave his spade ace in hopes that North would cue-bid an ace if he held one. South could not call for aces as he would have no idea which aces, if any, North held. Once the diamond ace was cue-bid by North, South bid the slam and faces a real challenge of his playing skill. West made a safe lead of the spade eight spot, South winning East's queen with his king in the closed hand. A diamond to the board and a diamond return brought him safely back to the closed hand, dropping West's diamond queen. At trick four, South led a trump and discovered the break. Then he led a low diamond to dummy. West leaped in with the queen and led the club ace. Even without the good club on the board, South had his slam in the bag. Trumping the club ace, he drew the remaining trump and claimed the balance. For more bridge playing fun by yourself and some expert challenges, try an Auto-bridge set.
