W.I. SUGGESTS LESS MAKE-UP ON WAITRESSES

Roll call at the March meeting of the Schreiber Women's Institute was answered by a showing of antiques. A copper kettle, 100 years old, brought by Mrs. C. Todesco, was much admired.

Mrs. Albertini of Port Arthur was welcomed by Mrs. Harvey McCanna, who presided for the meeting.

An appeal for donations of household effects and good used clothing for a family burned out was made.

Motto of the meeting was "In Youth We Learn and in Old Age We Understand." Mrs. Todesco read a paper prepared by Mrs. W. Clemens describing the changes in the educational system.

A resolution was drafted to present to the annual meeting, suggesting that it be brought to waitresses attention to the fact that less make-up would make them more attractive to customers, in particular, shorter hair and finger nails.

Appreciative letters were received from the municipal council and Mrs. Kusmic, mother of Schreiber New Year's Baby, for the party arranged in the baby's honour.

A paper on Safety in the Kitchen was read by Mrs. Todesco, and she was instructed, as secretary to write for literature on Safety in the Home.

A draw on a hamper of groceries was arranged for the month of May. Mrs. J.C. Campbell volunteered to arrange an Easter Bunny draw. Following the meeting, Mrs. K. Williamson convened a penny auction and lunch was served.

Edgar LeBlanc and Gino Caccamo, both of whom had been in Toronto Hospitals, returned home on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O'Keefe have the formers' father, Daniel O'Keefe of Fort William, visiting them.
