HEAVENLY GARBAGE!

Having done a pretty fair job of fouling up his earthly nest, man is now looking farther afield. Litter bugs are already at work on outerspace.

At last count, 222 man-made satellites were orbiting the earth and one was circling the moon. This total doesn't include accompanying rocket stages and miscellaneous pieces of space junk including a glove lost by an astronaut in the course of a stroll outside his ship. It's not much but it's a start and there are better things ahead. How nice it will be to relax on the patio with a telescope and meditate on the heavenly parade of banana peels, candy wrappers and empty beer cans.
