In spite of temporary delay due to the construction strike earlier in the summer, the High School expansion program is progressing well. Erection of steel is in progress. The masonry work is expected to start within the next week or so. Occupancy of the new facilities will be phased in over November and December.

The student enrollment is 177, a rise of 54% over last year. The two new programs, the four year science trades and technology, and the two year occupations (boys) are over-enrolled. An additional five classes will be created over the next two years as the senior years of these new programs are formed.
