both of Schreiber, led in a sing-song.

Miss Smith then led in another discussion, and discussed the Mission Study in China.

Mrs. C. Slomke thanked Miss Smith for a truly inspirational day, and Mrs. Hicken added her thanks to Miss Smith, and also the ladies of the Community Church for their hospitality.

A warm welcome is extended to Reginald (Reg) McManaman, his wife and baby. He is a graduate of Toronto-Chicago Vocational School and is a licensed Auto and Diesel Mechanic. Born in Nova Scotia, Reg served in the Navy for three years and has four years garage experience. He is currently employed at the Gem-Texaco Service Station in Terrace Bay and invites you to bring your auto troubles to him, at the corner of Highway 17 and the Mill Road.

PROUD DESPITE R.C.M.P.

The following is a letter printed in the Montreal newspaper: Dear Sir, -

I recently returned with a friend after a hitch-hiking trip to Vancouver. At times we were made to feel like criminals.

At Lake Louise all the campsites were full. The R.C.M.P. wouldn't let us sleep in the jail and wouldn't let us use the lawn in the rear. We were told we would get 60 days if found sleeping anywhere in the town outside a hotel, which we couldn't afford. We were told we could sleep outside the town limits, off the highway.

At Terrace Bay, Ontario, the police would have let us use the jail if they had had one, but instead drove us to the CPR station giving us permission to sleep there. One even offered to drive us to a look-out point the following day. In Blind River we slept on the sidewalk outside a supermarket. The OPP checked our identity and then checked every few hours to make sure we weren't being bothered.

Despite the attitude at Lake Louise, which is the most beautiful lake I have ever seen, the trip made me proud to be a Canadian.

Len Williams and Cy Brassard of Terrace Bay, started out to bag a moose, but instead, ended up that day with a 125 lb. Timber Wolf. Len says it was Cy's keen eye that first sighted the wolf, up on Spidell's Road, and Len shot it. They'll go out again looking for that moose.
