Cos. Filane, local president, was M.C. for the occasion. Mr. Bernier, who was asked to speak, said that one matter requiring urgent attention is the setting up of satisfactory communication between North Western Ontario and Eastern Ontario. With so much emphasis being placed on the role of youth in politics, it is gratifying to know that in 1967 some 1700 young people were actively involved in support of the Progressive Conservative party. For any party to carry on successfully, or, for a member of parliament to properly represent his riding, the people there must tell him their problems, and voice opinions.
