FRIENDS TO MEET . . .

Kenny, who is from Kitchener, Ontario, spent three months at THE HOSPITAL FOR SICK CHILDREN this year undergoing tests and treatment. Doctors discovered he has steatorrhea, difficulty in absorbing fats. The three year-old returns to the Hospital for out-patient visits and sees some of the many friends he made while in Hospital — like Sally Packham of the Physiotherapy Department. The Hospital gives almost 118,000 out-patient treatments a year. YOU can help the Hospital and the children who come there for help. Support the annual Christmas campaign by sending your donation to: THE HOSPITAL FOR SICK CHILDREN, 555 UNIVERSITY AVE., TORONTO 2, ONTARIO.

It seems as if the Province of Ontario will not tax or authorize to be taxed, places of worship. This again goes to show that places of worship are sacred and therefore not readily taxable. The taxing people are continually in search of new things to tax and more of the old things to tax more. It has yet to seep into the way to meet public expenses when cash is short is to reduce expenditures. . . from The Printed Word.

Thank You: May I take this opportunity to thank sincerely, all those people who supported me at the polls on December 2. Such a tremendous vote of confidence is most gratifying and certainly for the next two years I will endeavour to live up to your faith in me by making Terrace Bay an even better place in which to live.

JACK CACCAMO.

Taken from The Printed Word . . . Those who repeatedly remind us that now one out of every two Canadians is under twenty five years of age should remember that conversely, one out of every two Canadians is over twenty five.

Youth, as always, will be served, but they do not need to be served everything. There are other people in the country.
