

COMMISSO FIGLIOMENI NUPTIALS

Daffodils and white carnations adorned the altar in Holy Angels Roman Catholic Church, Schreiber, for the wedding ceremony on Saturday, April 19, at 2 p.m. when Catharine Figliomeni, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Figliomeni of Schreiber, became the bride of Vincenzo Commisso also of Schreiber.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized by Very Rev. J. M. Cano. Soloist Giovanni Cebrario, was accompanied by organist Brenda Lalonde.

The bride was escorted up the aisle by her parents, and was wearing a formal gown of satin corde fashioned with basque bodice and circular skirt. An overlay of lace trimmed the front bodice which dipped to a V at front of the corded waistline, and was designed with Sabrina neckline, and long sleeves buttoned at the wrists. Wide bands of the same lace extended down the sides to the hem of the full skirt, worn over a taffeta crinoline and was further enhanced by scattered lace medallions. A hand of lace accented the panel train falling from the shoulders where it was held by a lace medallion. A brilliant crown caught her scalloped tiered veil of illusion tulle and she carried a semi-cascade of white carnations and yellow roses.

FIVE ATTENDATS

The matron of honor was Mrs. Antonio Commisso of Schreiber, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Joe Commisso Schreiber, and Mrs. Tony Figliomeni Toronto, aunt of the bride. The flower girl was Rosemary Commisso, and Gesi Commisso, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

The senior attendants wore similarly styled slim line crepe gowns, the matron of honor in jade green, the bridesmaids in maize. Their bodices were fashioned of matching lace, the empire waistlines accented by narrow bands and bows of crepe. An inset mushroom pleated band of crepe outlined the deeply rounded necklines, and the three quarter lace sleeves were gathered above the elbows and finished in deep frills. They wore brilliant tiaras and each carried a single white mum.

The flower girl's dress was of similar style in mint green. She wore a tiara and carried a nose-gay of white mums.

The best man was the groom's brother, Antonio Commisso of Schreiber, and groomsmen were Joe Commisso Schreiber, and Tony Figliomeni of Toronto. Dominic and Michael Figliomeni, brothers of the bride, ushered.

Following the ceremony a dinner reception was held in the Moose Hall, Terrace Bay, when a toast to the bride was given by the best man. A wedding dance was held in the evening.

The bride's mother received guests in a blue lace suit-dress, white hat, beige accessories, and corsage of red roses. Mrs. Vincenzo Commisso of Toronto, aunt of the groom who received for him, was wearing a navy summer suit, white hat and accessories, and corsage of white roses.

For a trip to Toronto, the bride was entertained at a shower in the Guild Hall arranged by Mrs. Tony Commisso and Mrs. Joe Commisso.

The groom was honored at a stag arranged by the groomsmen in the Curling Rink.
