general; however, the last few days growth appeared and a little warm weather is anxiously waited for.

Mrs. Eveyln Cornfield should be complimented for the fine job she is doing creating such a friendly and extremely pleasant atmosphere in the club house. The window drapes and lamp coverings are appreciated by everyone. The general condition of the club house deserves high praise for it undoubtedly shows her interest in member's comfort.

It is good to see Thor Olsen back and in his golf harness again. Thor played a very big part in building the golf course. He spent practically all his spare time with a powersaw clearing for the course. . . . We wish him good golfing for his great effort.
