WE ARE WELL WARNED

We are indebted to the Institute of Association Executives for the following:

A great people, along with their glorious culture perished - not all at once, not noticeably, but over many years - slowly methodically.

There were many reasons for the fall of this great people. These are the major ones: Moral decay among citizens, too many government employees, constant warfare and preparations for war, depreciation in money and debasement of coins, erosion, deforestation and water shortage, abandonment of farms for life in the city, too many handouts that weakened the poor; too many luxuries that weakened the rich, few children among the well-to-do and educated; many children among the poor and ignorant, constant drain of precious metals, rising costs of public works, too much leisure time spent at games and amusements, a yearly rise in crime rates, a decrease in patriotism.

Can we learn something from these reasons?

Much of the western world is guilty of these same things today. History has a way of repeating itself, but if enough citizens become concerned and speak out about the things they consider wrong instead of remaining simple spectators the trend can be changed
