LAST SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

The last meeting of the RosSPORT Public School Committee board was held Friday. The school board was the only form of municipal government the village had and this was severed at the end of June when all keys to the school were turned in to the Regional board. Chairman Anne Todesco stated that in future there wouldn't be the close association with the school and teachers as in the past. Petty cash will be handled by the teachers in future. Principal, Mrs. Price notified the board that the regional board would re-roof the school and build cement entrance steps. She also announced that she received a 3400. dollar increase from the new board. Mrs. Todesco commented on the high standard of school equipment the best since the new building was opened. It was noted that there are close to a thousand library books for the pupil's use, over six hundred text book plus much other equipment.

It was noted that the bus driver, janitor and maintenance man will continue their respective work in conjunction with the school. The Board adjourned with pleasant reminders of accomplished improvements at the school and having worked in close harmony with the teacher, rate payers and each other.

BLACK WOLF SHOT AT ROSSPORT

Robert Wesley of Pays Plat was awakened at 5 p.m. recently by the cries and whimpering of his small pup. On investigating, he found a large black wolf trying to get the puppy out of its small dog house. His son Tommy shot the wolf with a 22 rifle. It measured close to three feet high and five and a half feet long and weighed 200 pounds. Tommy and his brother William re-traced its tracks along the railway for some distance before they lost them in the dense brush. Mr. Wesley claims that it was a black Siberian wolf.

LIBRARY CLOSES

A Centennial project, the community library, closed its doors the end of June as librarian Mrs. Joyce Yandon expects to leave the community this fall and owner of the property Mrs. Hattie Yandon has sold it. RosSPORTites lost a convenience that will be greatly missed especially during the long winter.
