adjacent to the side or back.

These simple rules will assure safety even in cases where radiation emission is somewhat in excess of the accepted manufacturing standard.

Miss Vanderbilt notices that today low-slung taxis and cars "make it difficult for a woman being accompanied by a man to enter first, especially if her skirt is tight and short, if she is in evening clothes, or for any other reason".

It is now "perfectly proper" for her to say, "will you please get in first?" The man should do so quickly, seat himself to her left and perhaps offer his hand as she enters.
