

Holy Angels Christmas Party - cont'd from page 12 ...

Power, Mike and Rita McGrath, D'Arcy and Nora McGuire, Ed and Irene Borutski, Ambrose McGrath and Cecile Bedard, and Martyn Ryan, with the men alternating as callers, and the ladies alternating between matinee and evening shows.

Tony Commisso presented a group of three organ solos, and grade seven students gave a dance routine.

A farcical skit written by Bertha Paradis, was concerned with the trails of a Very Merry Fairy, played by Mrs. Paradis, A Mean Kid, played by Mrs. Ruth Spadoni and other characters.

The Very Merry Fairy, evoked by the Mean Kid in place of a Fairy Godmother, had her magic go badly away, conjuring up some strange people instead of those she had summoned.

Freda Duggan was Gravel Gertie who, judging by her bulging shopping bags had "cleaned out" the town, was advised by the Fairy to cross the tracks and catch the Paper Train, back home. The Mean Kid promptly interjected "She won't get it - it goes east!" and the Fairy, with an evil smile replied "Oh yes she will - right in the teeth!".

Babe Spikula and Penny Caccamo as Loonies from the moon, were halicious little chirruping creatures bent on thieving; Jackie Tremblay, as Hebe, complaining of the dullness of the gods' parties recently, and wondering where to serve the nectar and other libations she had on hand, was urged by the Fairy to take another whirl and return here for New Year's the men may not be gods - but they enjoy a drink!

Edna Cocks as a Russian Cosmonaut, said she'd dropped in simply because she was tired of the confusion in space - too many people and things whirling about, and had been told she'd feel at home here - winters being the same in Schreiber as Siberia.

Following the evening show the cast and others assisting were entertained at a coffee party in Father Cano's home.

First photo - next column - Euclid and Clemence Morin as the French couple and Ida and Joe Speziale as the Italian couple.

Second photo - next column - Isabel Cash (left) and Evelyn Thrower (right) as the angels, with Annette Campbell as Mary in the Nativity tableau.

Photos by I. McCuaig.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Cataford with Judy, Brian, and Ann of Corunna, Ont. are spending Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. G. Cataford.

SANTA VISITS REBEKAHS

Mrs. Christine Morris was noble grand and Mrs. Mary Husband, P.N.G. was vice grand at the regular Ruby Rebekah meeting.

Mrs. Beth Macadam was installed as vice grand by Mrs. Mavis Slater, installing officer, Mrs. Florence Whent, deputy marshall, Mrs. Bernice Whent, warden and Mrs. Jessie McCanna, deputy chaplain, and Mrs. Dora Weaver, P.D.D.P. was installed as L.S.V.G.

Mrs. Helen D'Arcy reporting for the C.P. and T. committee said their recent candy blitz had been most successful.

Mrs. Mavis Slater presented a fifteen-year jewel to Mrs. Mildred Welsh.

continued page 14