INTRODUCING CARE LABELLING

The Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs have announced plans to introduce distinctive labels on the care of fabrics. Sometimes colours run, clothing shrinks or the material is ruined by heat. Commercial dry cleaners and launderers also have to contend with irate customers and unnecessary expense because of fabric damage. Sometimes the fabric itself is faulty, but all too often the harm comes from improper washing, cleaning or pressing. In most cases consumers damage garments because they do not know the proper way to treat them.

This new labelling scheme is not going to appear overnight, but consumers should learn about the symbols in the meantime.

A colour booklet showing care symbol combinations is available from The Consumer, Box 99, Ottawa, Ontario - free of charge. Ask for the booklet "Care Labelling for Textiles."
