Father Cano Honoured - cont'd from page 1

Sister Marvel Belfry, for the staff of Holy Angels Separate School; Yvan Beauparlant, for the separate school board; Lola Scott, for the Catholic Girls' Club; Ben Lapenskie, for the Knights of Columbus; and Mrs. Harry Shack, for the Guides and Brownies.

In reply Father Cano said he could not put into words his appreciation of the friendships he had been offered in Schreiber and the respect from both his own congregation and the Protestant ones, during his eleven and a half years in the town.

Many changes had occurred in the church life, with lay people now taking an active part in the work.

Particularly evident was the co-operation between churches, forgetting different doctrines, but bearing christian witness to their faith.

He remarked he was happy to see Bernadette Cardiff, the first child he had baptized in Schreiber at the reception.

The one wish he would leave was that the great potential talents lying dormant in so many of the young people, be discovered and developed.

He particularly thanked the school board, the staff and all the associations within the church who supported him during his ministry in Schreiber.

Following the presentations, each with an informal speech, the large crowd enjoyed a lunch served by the Catholic Women's League and chatted in turn with Father Cano.

Music during the afternoon was supplied by organist Tony Commisso.

On Monday the students of Holy Angels School held a party in Father Cano's honour and presented him with a handsome cheque.

The various grades had held a contest in writing farewell letters and the one voted the best by each class was presented to Father Cano.

These he said, he will always cherish.
