Lyle Nicol Achieves A.S.I. Rating - cont'd from page 1

Lyle Nicol, Senior Champion of the Terrace Bay Ski Club, was awarded his assistant ski instructors rating by the Canadian Ski Instructors Alliance on March 27th. The award followed a week long training and examination session which is generally regarded as a gruelling test of skiing ability.

The session was held at the Loch Lomond Ski Club in Thunder Bay.

The rank of Assistant Ski Instructor will enable Lyle to teach professionally at any ski club in North America which offers the Canadian Ski Technique. This includes many resorts in the U.S.A.

Lyle's European Skiing experience has no doubt contributed to his polished style.

In 1969 he skied at Davos, Zermatt and St. Moritz - all in Switzerland. This year he returned to Switzerland to ski the Berneuse and Solacyre.

A perennial club champion at Terrace Bay, Lyle was also club champion at Little Norway Ski Club, Thunder Bay, in 1970.

He has also been head instructor at the Terrace Bay Ski Club a number of times in past years.

We're proud of you "Nick". You've shown us that if a guy from a small town Club tries, he can make it with the best of them. Best of luck with your skiing career.
