(continued from page 13... Farewell Party) as M.C. On behalf of their friends Dan Secundiak presented a cheque in token of their good wishes to Pat. Among the several speakers paying tribute to the Conley's interest in community affairs and support of them, was councillor R.B. Spadoni who said that very few people who had lived such a short time in the town devoted the time and effort in several ways which the Conleys had. Others thanking Pat and Arlene on behalf of various organizations who had already presented farewell gifts were Mike Reid, president of the Kinsmen, who added he'd long remember Pat since he was the one who plotted the initiation ceremony when Mike entered Kinsmen; Burton Phillips for the Curling Club saying as treasurer Pat had sparked the interest which led to getting artificial ice for the rink; Neil Foote, for the Minor hockey Association; Mrs. Audrey McKay, for the Brownies, proud that it was in Schreiber, Arlene received her Tawny Owl leader's badge, and thanking her for the work and many suggestions she'd offered; Maureen Phillips, president of the Kinettes, also thanked Arlene; Harold Gellert spoke for the friends - at - large, Geno Caccamo read a comical tribute in verse.

When Dan Secundiak presented the gift he made a laughing reference to the various places Pat had worked in western branches of the Bank of Montreal, saying that he'd followed the trail all over 'the place', hearing none but favorable comments, but, he had to come to Schreiber to meet him!

Music for dancing was supplied by Freddie McColeman and Doug Moore and lunch was served at the end of the evening.
