C.T.V. FOR TERRACE BAY?

New Broadcast facilities, which will provide a second network of Canadian Television Programming in the Thunder Bay Area, will be established with financial aid from the Ontario Government. Thunder Bay Electronics Limited, now operating CKPR-TV a CBC affiliated station, will receive a Northern Ontario Development Corporation performance loan and a term loan to set up operations supplying CTV network and local coverage on Channel 4.

These loans were approved in keeping with the objectives of the Canadian Radio-Television Commission, which has recommended the addition of a second Canadian network service to existing CBC English-Language Television coverage in Northern Ontario. The C.R.T.C. also recommended that the added service in the area should be undertaken by the present licence holders.

Thunder Bay Electronics Limited plans to provide coverage in two stages. Initially, the new facilities will serve the greater Thunder Bay Metropolitan area. In the future it is hoped to extend direct transmission through microwave links, from Thunder Bay to outlying centres in most of Northwestern Ontario.

Thunder Bay Electronics is the second Northern Ontario Broadcasting company to receive Ontario Government assistance through the N.O.D.C. In March of this year a term loan was approved for J. Conrad Lavigne Enterprises whose headquarters are in Timmins. That loan was also to help finance expanded broadcast operations which are now providing two-network coverage throughout the Northeast.
