The appointment becomes effective September 1. Mr. Puttock who is currently woodlands manager, Kimberly-Clark Pulp and Paper Company Limited, at Longlac, will take up headquarters at Terrace Bay where the company's mill is located.

Mr. Puttock, 52, will succeed John A. Ferrier, mill manager at Terrace Bay, who retires on September 1.

A graduate in forestry from the University of Toronto in 1947, Mr. Puttock has been associated with Kimberly-Clark since that time and has been employed in various supervisory and administrative capacities during the last 25 years.

Married, with two children, he presently resides at Longlac. He is a director of the Ontario Forest Industries Association, and a member of the Ontario Professional Foresters' Association.

The Terrace Bay mill, established in 1948, is the principal industry in the town of 1,800. It employs some 500 persons and its present capacity is 47,000 tons of Kraft pulp.

The mill is supplied with pulpwood from the company's woodlands operations at Longlac, where a tree nursery, maintained by the company to ensure a continuing supply of new planting stock, is located.
