Guides and Leaders had a good time, especially when some night visitors from Marathon came into camp fire and sang along with the girls, which gave them an opportunity to meet other girl guides from all over the North Shore.

Each of the leaders took along their younger children and found that all their worries on whether the little ones would be upset or a trouble underfoot were soon dispelled for the Girl Guides just took over to entertain and babysit the young ones and the leaders were able to participate in all areas of activities.
