THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE

Christopher has had many moves in his lifetime and urgently needs the feeling of belonging that goes with having your own family. A mother, a father, a home, a name he can share — these will give Christopher the security and the knowledge of being wanted and loved.

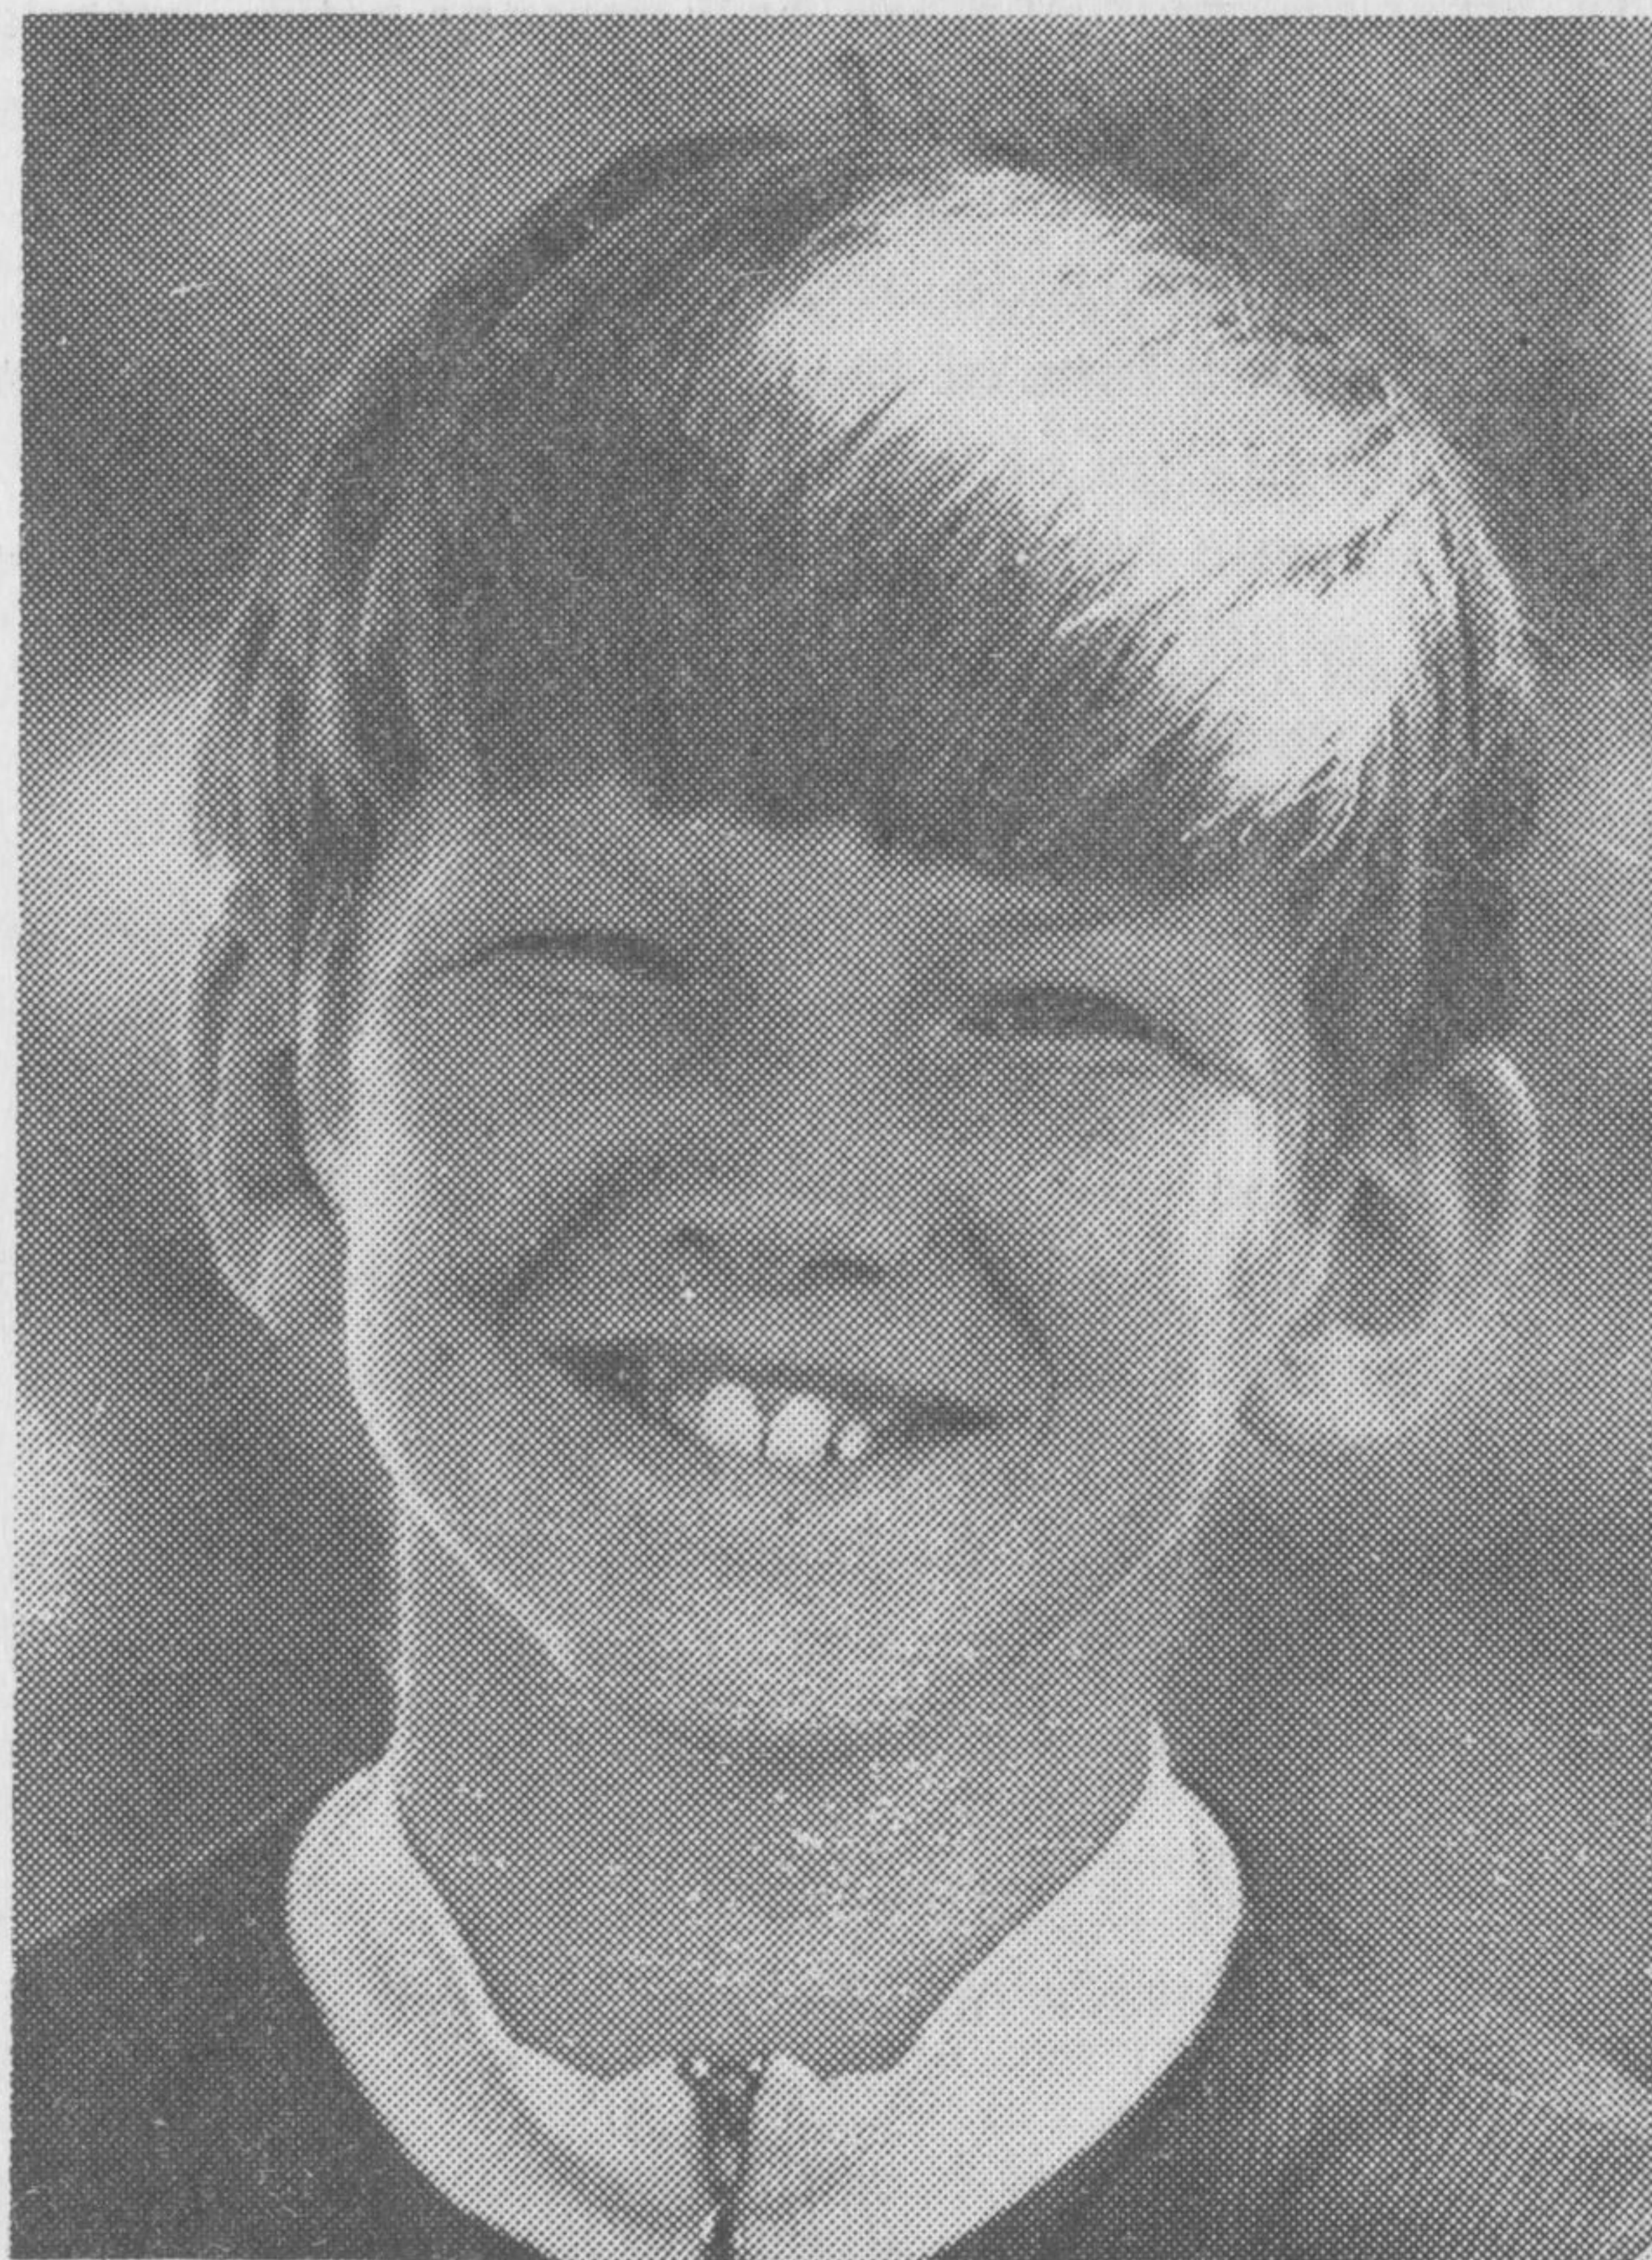

Christopher is a healthy, active boy with an engaging smile, a pleasant personality and a sense of humor. Anglo-Saxon in descent, he is small for his age with light brown hair, brown eyes and freckles.

Christopher is in senior opportunity class and will likely go on to vocational school. Though not academically inclined, he is a steady worker who responds to encouragement and supervision by completing whatever task is set for him.

Christopher is a real outdoors boy who likes to climb. Baseball and hockey are his favorite games and he is proud of his bike. Most comfortable with children younger than himself, he would best fit into a family as the oldest child. He also enjoys adult company.

Christopher has spent most of his life in a rural setting. Both the country life and the opportunity to know and befriend animals appeal to him. But more important is that he find parents to whom he will be a welcome, cherished son.

To inquire about adopting Christopher, please write to Today's Child, Box 888, Station K, Toronto. For general adoption information, please contact your Children's Aid Society.
