The year's copies of National Geographics will be sent away for binding in one volume.

The board noted with pleasure the excellent condition in which the library premises are maintained by the town caretaker.

The new shelving units have been received but the board is still in a quandry regarding the saving and discarding of old shelves, dependent on the possibility of acquiring larger quarters and the hope for volunteer labour to make the change-over of so many books. No immediate decision is required and several angles are being explored.

A catalogue of 27,000 books was received from Bro-Dart of Canada which will be studied - all members acting on the book selection committee.

A lengthy questionnaire was studied and filled in most of the answers, in this board's decisions, contingent of their limited budget.

The excellent libraries maintained by the three schools in town greatly assist the public library in reference material and in film resources.

A new World Encyclopedia was placed on order, it appears to be an improved source of reference material for students.

The board is most grateful to the local art club whose members supply changing group of paintings to be studied in the library, offering both a challenge to one's considering this medium of expression and pride in those in the community who have achieved so much by effort, interest and determination, with few professional lessons
