MINOR HOCKEY

With food remaining on the table at the Minor Hockey annual turkey banquet, despite the appetities of the 82 boys attending, one may assess the occasion as an outstanding success. And in addition to the boys were coaches, referees, officers of the association and other guests.

Joe Caccamo was M.C., addressing Ted Wilson the president of the League, first, introducing head table guests and saying that minor hockey now is a very important part of the Canadian Hockey System and the local executive are most grateful to the many who assist - officials, coaches, mothers who raise funds and attended practices and of course, to the mothers who for many years have provided this banquet and the Legion auxiliary members who serve it, and the Legion who offer their hall for the occasion.
