

Cubs Banquet - cont'd

Mrs. Moore presented the Tawny Star to Mark Wills, completing his collection of five - the second boy in Schreiber to earn all of them. Mr. Wills presented the Cyclists and Keeper - collectors badges to Glen Korman.

Joey Wills, a very talented performer, played three accordion solos, and then both accompanied, and led, the cubs in a sing-along of obviously favourite numbers.

Mrs. Moore announced an invitation has been received to attend a Voyageur Camp-Out in Thunder Bay in early July but it would be an undertaking requiring the services of several men in both the transporting care of the boys.

The boys were delighted to make draws from a treasure box, well-shaken by Mr. Pyke, in which each lad received a prize-the most astounding one being the cub who drew his own ticket.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Paul Gauthier and Mrs. Camille Perras, former leaders, who prepared the dinner and the girls who served it.

ART CLUB

A group of thirty-one members of the Schreiber Art Club have attained an enviable record of 99% attendance during their ten week class to be shortly completed.

Helen Strickland, the instructor, is parti-

They paint and study weekly in their club and occasionally enjoy the benefit of a professional teacher.

The public is invited to attend their annual show being held this year June 9th to 10th.

Tickets are now on sale for the draw of an oil painting by Iris Lidkea.

Shirley Brown president, stops to discuss Colleen Glad's painting.

The ushers were Curtis and Paul Martin, brothers of the groom.

The bride's gown, of white crepe, was fashioned with Empire waist line, long bell sleeves, the hem of the dress and the sleeves edged with guipere lace. Her floor length veil was caught to a wide fitted band of the crepe and lace and her bouquet a semi cascade of red roses spiced with baby's breath.

The bride had four attendants: Mrs. Jody Davis, her sister as matron of honour; Miss Billie Weaver, her sister, Lori Foss, her cousin and Janice Martin, sister of the groom, as bridesmaids.

They wore similarly styled gowns of blue polyester crimp double knit with lace collars, short puff sleeves and empire bodices. Their picture hats of poly propylene braid were banded with grosgrain ribbon trimmed with pretend posies, and they carried large single white mums edged with lace.

Claude Martin was the best man and Ivan Martin the groomsman.

The wedding dinner was given in St. Andrew's United Church hall. The evening reception was held in the town hall,
