TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE

Kenny's personality is as winning as his smile. This six-year-old is sunny, even-tempered and outgoing. He gets on well with both grownups and children and is easy to live with because he is obedient and co-operative.

English in descent, Kenny is a good-looking boy with very blonde hair, blue eyes and fair skin.

Kenny's health is good with one small area of doubt. He had a convulsion with a fever two years ago and none since. However, the pediatrician consulted by the Children's Aid Society feels there is a slight chance, perhaps 10 to 15 per cent, that he may develop epilepsy when he is 10 to 12 years old. His glasses are for near-sightedness in the left eye.

Kenny is being called a slow learner. But he has a good memory especially for the songs he learns in kindergarten and he tries his best at school.

He likes music, enjoys coloring and loves to play with small cars. Kenny is also an outdoors enthusiast.

Talkative, responsive and affectionate, Kenny needs a family where he will be the youngest and where there are older brothers and sisters for him to imitate.

To inquire about adopting Kenny, please write to Today's Child, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2. For general adoption information, write your local Children's Aid Society.
