SAILING ENJOYED ON LAKE SUPERIOR

Sailing has become the latest sport to be enjoyed on the North Shore of Lake Superior, as Anne and Chuck Wilde were instrumental in forming a Sailing Club, with members from Terrace Bay, Schreiber, Rosspport, Red Rock and Manitowadge becoming interested.

Sponsored by Al-Can and Benson and Hedges, where 60 or more persons interested in learning, two instructors were sent out to Rosspport, to teach the fine art of sailing, and safety precautions as well, in times of rough weather or distress.

Bob and Marcus, as they were known informally, came equipped with a van, with sleeping accommodations and all sorts of safety measures.

There were three sessions a day, three hours per session, with 20 people in a class at one time.

There were five Petrels in the small class sailboat. Classes were held in all types of weather.

On the last day, students were tested on what they had learned, and a race was scheduled but unfortunately the weather turned so rough that they could not carry on with the race, so held a social hour instead. Mrs. Barb Wise made a cake, decorated for the occasion as a sailboat. Charles Wise was one of the Charter members of the club, as well as Don Brown and Chuck Wilde, who all own larger sailboats.

Instructor Bob Thomson made a presentation to Myra Brown, for her act of bravery when her small Petrel capsized, with all the crew aboard. Quick rescue procedures followed, with no bad effects, but they learned just what really happens when a boat capsizes, and what rescue technique is followed.
