only half a game short of the second place Pittsburgh Pirates, who, I still think, will take the honours. All four leagues have been so close that Commissioner Bowie Kuhn gave permission to a record 16 clubs a week or so ago to print tickets for the October playoffs. I can't help but applaud the efforts of the Marvelous Expos this year, though. They've been down, but they've come right back, and, so of last Tuesday, were on a fine five-game winning streak

Do you know what makes me mad? It's Monday night and I haven't heard an Expo score all weekend. It seems when you live in an American border city like Windsor, you don't often hear Canadian team scores on your radio. But here it was, 11:05 p.m. and I'm driving along a downtown Windsor street, heading home. The sports news finally comes on. Baltimore beat so-and-so, Detroit lost to some other club ... and all the other American League scores are rhymed off. As they start listing the National League scores, I wind up under an underpass and, natch, the radio reception is cut off. I get back under an open sky and the National League scores are still on ... Pittsburgh 3, Houston 2... And that was it. I heard all but one or two scores and one of the ones I missed was the Expos'. It wasn't until I read the paper the next day that I found out the Expos had swept their series against Philadelphia Saturday and Sunday and beaten the Cubs Monday ... Boy, that gets me mad !!!
