

Sports Slants - continued

They've never finished higher than fifth in their previous four seasons.

But wouldn't it be wild if the Expos did pull it out, then go on to the World Series by eliminating the western champs, probably Cincinnati Reds?

Why, that might be enough to make Montreal fans forget about the Canadiens -- and Ken Dryden!!!

Only one thing bothers me, though, about the possibility of the Expos playing in the World Series -- How can they play baseball in snow ???
