He Did Well

That man over there is very proud of himself. Seems that during this last recession he was able to keep his head above water. But really, that's no big deal - after all, wood floats.

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN.

THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE

Fred, 4, is small for his age but healthy, lively and active. He has dark hair, dancing brown eyes and olive skin.

Tiny at birth, Fred was diagnosed at three months as having Pierre-Robin Syndrome. Children with this condition usually have small mouths, cleft palates and very small chins. Sometimes they are retarded.

Fred is not retarded. In fact he is considered an average child. Though he had some early feeding difficulties, he did not need an operation for his palate and he now eats whatever his foster family is having. He will probably need orthodontic work later because his jaws may not be big enough for his second teeth, though his baby teeth are fine as you can see in the picture. He may also need speech therapy.

Fred is alert, quick to learn and well co-ordinated. He runs and climbs with agility. He can turn somersaults and stand on his head.

He is hyperactive and sometimes it is hard to slow him but he will usually settle down if somebody will read him a story or play records for him. He also likes drawing and coloring.

This young fellow will be a delight to parents who are young, energetic and have lots of patience.

Since Fred is used to other children, he will probably do best with brothers and sisters in his adoption home.

To inquire about adopting Fred, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2. For general adoption information, please contact your local Children's Aid Society.
