

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I went with this very nice man for several months. He was somewhat older, but we enjoyed each other's company. I should tell you, Ann, the man isn't a millionaire but he is very comfortable.

I am not a greedy person but I do like an occasional gift, especially on holidays. Two weeks before Valentine's Day I remarked that the experts had predicted a very cold winter and I'd like something to keep me warm. (We had been window shopping and I admired some fur coats.) He even asked me what kind of fur I liked best. I told him most women would choose mink, but I was partial to fox.

Imagine my surprise when he arrived on Valentine's Day carrying a large box tied with a red satin ribbon. I opened it excitedly and couldn't believe my eyes - a set of thermal underwear!

I acted pleased but I do think it was a crummy gift considering he knew what I really wanted. What's your interpretation? If he sees this in the paper I couldn't care less because I've already given him the brush-off. --
Non-Plussed.

Dear Non: I think he out-foxed you, dearie.

Dear Ann: I have lost the battle for my husband's affection. Another woman? I wish it were that simple. It's that one-eyed monster--TV.

I'm in my 50s. He's in his 50s. We've been married less than a year and he is too young to be "over-the-hill". But the minute he steps into the house, he turns on the TV and the only time he speaks to me is during commercials. Don't say, "Talk to him." Whenever I open my mouth, he says, "Please be quiet. I'm watching this."

I have actually written to him at his office telling him how I feel. All I got in the way of an answer was, "Honey, I love you, but I love TV, too."

Can TV be a third party in a divorce suit? --
Lonely In Head

Dear Lonely: You say you've been married less than a year? What was your courtship like? Hurley you wouldn't have married a man who ignored you.

Tell him (during a commercial) that either he come with you for counseling, or you will go alone and find out if the marriage is worth saving. Then do so.

Dear Ann Landers: I just finished calling several patients to remind them of an overdue doctor bill. Each person was indignant and had some excuse for not making a payment this month or last. One woman said, "I wonder what has happened to the old-fashioned, dedicated doctor who practiced medicine because he wanted to serve humanity?"

I told her no doctor could pay his rent with "dedication," that landlords and grocers insist on being paid in cash, and the only way a doctor could get cash was to charge his patients--and collect. continued page 9 ....

your week ahead BY DR. A.W. DAMIS

Forecast Period: March 17 To March 23

ARIES

Mar. 21 - Apr. 19

Try the good feeling of avoiding pain and anxiety. Stop listening to rumors and half-truths. Most important, don't take a member of the other sex, seriously.

TAURUS

Apr. 20 - May 20

This week, according to your chart, paperwork seems to be a Lion in your path. Check and double check documents for an error that's destined to become costly.

GEMINI

May 21 - June 20

In one form or another, you'll resort to a training learned in the past. In other words, you'll be called upon to use your latent talent, unexpectedly.

MOONCHILD

June 21 - July 22

Stellar patterns suggest that you widen your circle of friends. Also, there's an indication that a religious person will influence you.

LEO

July 23 - Aug. 22

Apparently, many members of your sign will be spending money on too many "little items." Review your receipts, you'll see what stellar patterns mean!

VIRGO

Aug. 23 - Sept. 22

For most members of your sign, a short journey, will determine this week's success or failure. Also, a bad case of moodiness is on the wing.

LIBRA

Sept. 23 - Oct. 22

Once again, it's not a favorable period to invest or expand. Apparently, outside pressures will demand impulsive decisions. Try playing both ends toward the middle.

SCORPIO

Oct. 23 - Nov. 21

Emotionally, many members of your sign have become a tinderbox. Guard against being pushed into a mental explosion. Also, keep your motives under wraps.

SAGITTARIUS

Nov. 22 - Dec. 21

A long range goal should be within reach, now. You might be re-opening a project that has been long shelved. Incidentally, an unexpected event will increase your popularity.

CAPRICORN

Dec. 22 - Jan. 19

You might be thinking in terms of what happened to you, during this week; several years ago. For many under your sign — the past will be reviewed.

AQUARIUS

Jan. 20 - Feb. 18

It's not a good time to disclose a new project, or your opinion for that matter. Associates and co-workers, you'll discover, won't be cooperative.

PISCES

Feb. 19 - Mar. 20

Remember, it's patience that makes the big difference between the spider and the fly. Meaning? Wait out the opposite sex.
