need the male support too gentlemen.

Grade 7 students have really come out with their support. They will be making posters and selling tickets. Also they suggested free babysitting (weather permitting).

MENTAL RETARDATION EXPLAINED TO CHILDREN

Peggy Helmink, an executive member of the Association of the Mentally Retarded visited grade 7 at the Public School and grades 1-8 in St. Martin's school and talked on the work and schooling of the mentally retarded.

She talked on the training of the handicapped children at the Carolyn McMorland School in Marathon and also urged the children to enter the poster contest open to grades 7 and 8 in both Schreiber and Terrace Bay. Peggy answered questions after her talk to every class. Mental Retardation Week begins in May on Mother's Day.
