

and screams and yells echoed around the walls much to the delight of other tourists passing by.

The hospital that had served as an important place during those by gone days, was a place of amazement to all. The crude rough beds with mattresses filled with hay will never really be believed by our children, who only know the best in spring filled padded posture pedic mattresses in their own homes.

The carpenters shop and canoe sheds held the group in quiet awe as the masters of their trade whittled and shaved the rough timber into smooth pieces of furniture or household items. A few of the group were invited to use the good working ingenious tools.

At the end of the tour no one seemed willing to leave the Old Fort and then and there planned to try to return when the last three or four buildings that were under construction now are completed in 1976.

When the lovely tour guides said goodbye one could almost visualize the tall strong voyageurs striding through the bush with huge bales of furs slung around their back, supported by their sashes around their foreheads. Or the small trim ladies going about their work in long dresses and simple aprons gaily decorated their dark attire.

A step back in time was an eye opener to all that took the trip and was recommended by all to be the best Northwestern Ontario Tourist attraction that has ever been seen.

Chaperones for the trip were Addie Daley, Pam Jones, Barbara Payette and Connie Cvitkovich. Teachers were David Ditchfield and Ron Jowitt.

CAMERON'S HAVE VICTORIOUS BOWLING YEAR

In May the bowling alleys echoed with cheers and laughter as a mixed tournament was under way.

Some very good bowling was seen and the competition was heavy, but the Wally Cameron team from Schreiber won it by a very close margin.

Congratulations go out to the 'Cameron' team.

This same team of Judy & Wally Cameron, Dan & Jackie Imbeault and Aime & Marie Jean have had terrific games and their good bowling seemed to last when they entered another tournament in Red Rock. They emerged victorious with the 'Carling Trophy' in the Northwestern roll-offs.
