

LEGION AUXILIARY BR. 109 MEETING

The members of the ladies auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Legion, Br. 109 at their regular meeting on December 2 most definitely were opposed to a suggestion that Remembrance Day be changed to a May or June date in hope of more clement weather. They agreed that because of this year's dilemma in the non arrival of the wreaths, they would place theirs in a ceremony arranged later for that purpose.

The slate of new officers was announced: Lorraine Huard, president; Georgina Davis, first vice president; Avila Richardson, second vice president and Rena Ross, treasurer. The secretary is appointed by the president.

Christine reported there is now only one unpaid member. Wendy Morris agreed to decorate the Legion for Christmas events. Ethel Nesbitt reported a successful Poppy Day canvas and volunteered to convene the event next year.

It was agreed to purchase more china roses for presentation to sick members instead of the customary rose bowl.

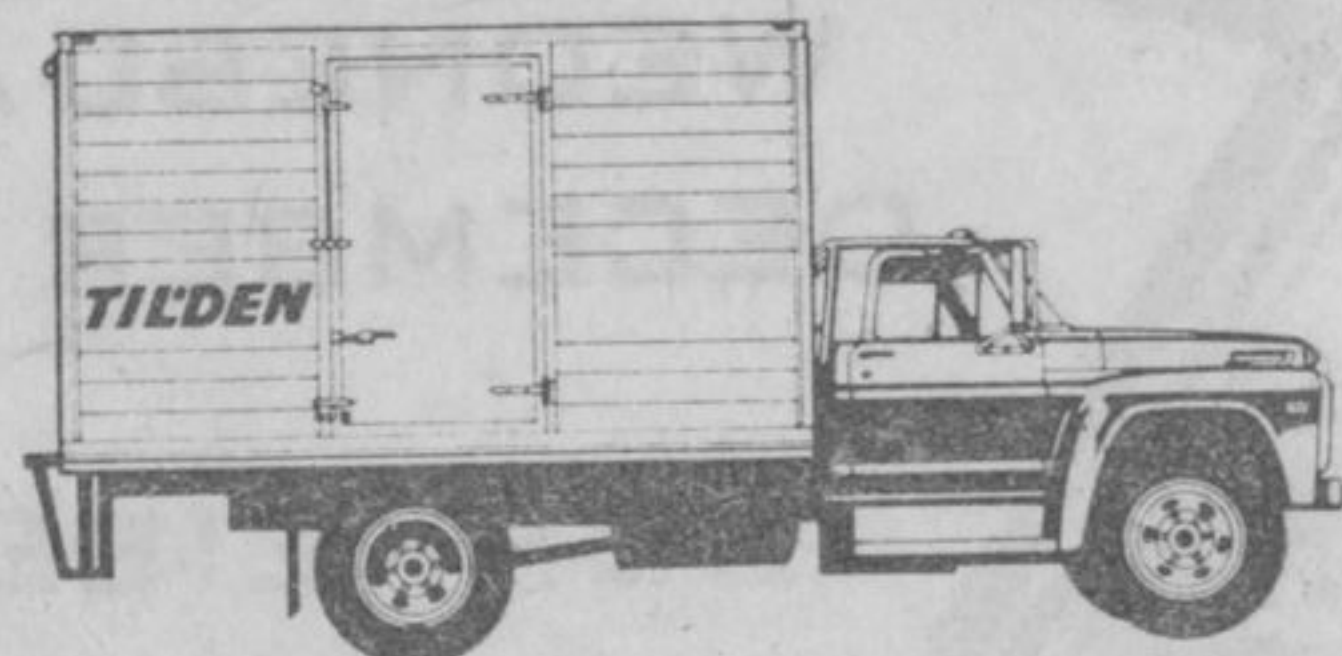

A Christmas hamper will be started immediately for a sick member.

The secretary reported the purchase of chairs for the Legion.
