LOWER SPEED LIMITS

Effective Monday, February 2, Ontario drivers will be expected to obey lowered speed limits on all freeways and King's Highways, Minister of Transportation and Communications, James Snow announced.

A new regulation reduced the speed limits on provincial freeways from 70 mph to 60 mph and on the King's Highway system from 60 and 55 mph to 50 mph for all vehicles.

The only exceptions are freeways now signed at 60 mph which will remain the same; Highway 17 from the Manitoba boundary to the Quebec boundary and Highway 11 between North Bay and Rainy River, which will be reduced to 55 mph.

Signs will be changed by MTC district personnel by applying the new speed conversion overlay, 21 inches by 14 inches, over existing signs on February 2, weather permitting.

While the regulation for the lower speed limits becomes effective February 1 - a Sunday - sign changeovers will begin Monday, February 2. Mr. Snow noted that "the old posted limits will be legal until they are replaced with the new overlays."

Ontario Provincial Police will enforce the regulation lowering the speed limits "as part of their normal enforcement procedures," said Roland Devereux, assistant commissioner of the Traffic Division.

"We will continue to apply enforcement in areas of high collision experience primarily, in an effort to reduce the severity ratio of accidents," he said.

L.A. TO LOYAL ORDER OF MOOSE held their meeting January 20th. Sr. Regent, Alma Hart chaired the meeting, followed by lunch served by B. Williams. Next meeting - Feb. 3rd.
