SUGGESTIONS FOR CONSUMERS

For the consumer who runs into a problem with the pricing of a new metric package, the Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs and Metric Commission Canada, with the concurrence of the Anti-Inflation Board, suggest the following procedures:

1. The consumer should first discuss the matter with the store manager.
 2. If the consumer is not satisfied with the response received from the store manager, he or she should refer the complaint to the nearest office of the Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs, or Consumer Help Office. Such offices can be located in the telephone book in most larger Canadian cities.
