

PROVINCIAL PARKS:

By W.K. Robinson

Senior Lands & Parks Technician

Winter has arrived and former park users are now turning their attention to other recreational activities. Parks staff are presently completing the analysis of parks statistics for this past season to determine trends in park visitation. This data will assist them in planning for park development in existing and planned parks.

Locally there has been a slight increase in the number of visitors and camper days for Rainbow Falls Provincial Park while there was a slight decrease for Neys Provincial Park.

A new shower and laundromat complex was operational this year at Rainbow Falls Park and judging by comments received has attracted many new visitors. A road paving project at this park had to be halted because of cold weather this fall. The remainder of the paving will be completed next spring.

The Rosspport campground area, twelve miles west of Schreiber forms an extension of Rainbow Falls Park. Originally developed to handle overflow from Rainbow Falls, the site has become an attractive area for those who enjoy camping along the scenic Rosspport area shoreline.

A visitors activity centre is under construction at Neys Park. This building will provide a workshop for the parks interpretive program consisting of films, childrens programs, exhibitions of historic artifacts and lectures on the area's natural history. The centre will be in operation next spring.

All parks in this area will be opened again on June 3, 1977.

TWEENIES BECOME BROWNIES

On December 1st, 1976 nine "Tweenies" became Brownies of the First Terrace Bay Brownie Pack.

They were: Tanya Evoy, Shannon Lever, Helen Jones, Brenda-Lee Wells, Donna Wells, Lisa Heinrich, Kelly Moore, Susan Boucher and Penny Westlake.

Each girl walked up the garden path stepping on magic stepping stones along the way. After she found the elf in the magic pool, she went through the arch way and entered Brownieland.

Madam Commissioner, Mrs. Saranpaa was present to enroll each girl into the Brownie Pack.

Parents of the new Brownies were present and were served tea and toast by the Brownies working toward their Golden Hand.
